

Any good journey is a life journey - is a quote taken from our game. If you've ever dreamed about a real space flight, now is the time to fulfill your dreams! After the astronaut Scipio makes his first step on Mars, he will fly farther and farther. It will be hard, adventurous and endless. Approximately 20,000 meters and the colonist will take a lot of time to go there to the farthest point, further than the solar system. Use your skills and various obstacles to win, get achievements and surprise yourself in different situations. Enjoy your travel in the future! You can select in the main menu the "Arena" section. At the Arena, you can find bosses you can improve your skill in a duel. You can find level of difficulty and card you can hone your skill. Several difficulties have their sublevels. In the final of a boss, you'll be able to go to another chapter. Also you can do the "Builders" section and improve your skills of building. You'll be able to do the same at the Earth. The planet is very interesting, you will be able to join the meetings of your allies. You will be able to work and research. If you gain more achievements, you can learn new skills. You can check your position with the landing point arrow on the map in the main menu. The game is linear. You will be able to reach the main location. We recommend playing all of this, and we'll tell you later how to reach the end of the game. In this game you will not find a photo album. You will be able to work and research. Most of the information about the author is present on the label of the game. You can change the language in the options menu. We hope you enjoy your game and that it makes you dream even more!
